Subject: NCI Bid Board Posting – Service Contract for a Beckman Cytoflex S FACS Analysis Machine

The Laboratory of Cellular and Molecular Biology (LCMB) has a long and distinguished history in studying signal transduction mechanisms that control normal cell growth and, when altered, lead to malignant transformation. Through the 1980s and 1990s, many critical signaling molecules, including growth factors, growth factor receptors, and intracellular transduction molecules, were first identified and characterized in the LCMB. The mission of LCMB remains focused on performing cutting-edge, world-class research in this field of biology, and important discoveries continue. LCMB Investigators focus on defining signaling components and pathways and understanding their regulation. The relationship of signaling to cellular growth and death, transcriptional regulation, mitosis, cellular differentiation and organogenesis, cell adhesion, motility, and chemotaxis is a more complex topic under investigation. Alterations in signaling leading to oncogenesis, unregulated growth, and metastasis are also studied. In all cases, the goal LCMB hopes to achieve is outstanding, innovative, and high-impact science.
